Abstract

The purpose of this White Paper is to share key information about the Empower Network project and how we plan to tap into the power of crypto-currency make a difference in the fight against domestic violence in our world. The Empower Network (Mpwv) will bring added attention and awareness to the problems of Domestic Violence, as well as a needed revenue stream to those organizations that the community believes is doing the most good in fighting this global epidemic.

Problem

Domestic Violence is a global issue in the modern world. In addition to physical violence, psychological violence (something that has been harder to measure but is a common element of relationship abuse) exists all over the world[1]. Though men can also experience domestic abuse, women are six times more likely to be victimized[2]. Evidence demonstrates clearly, those that are actively fighting domestic violence and supporting victims need more help[3].

Solution – The Empower Network

Cryptocurrency investments have taken the world by storm. Investment in digital assets provide a novel way to address systemic problems in the world. The Empower Network is seeking to leverage the growing interest in cryptocurrency to provide a financial vehicle for those investing in cryptocurrencies that incorporates a built in system to benefit organizations that support the victims of domestic violence. In other words, investing in, holding, and staking Mpwr benefits both the investor and the world at the same time.

Why the Empower Network?

The vision of The Empower Network is two-fold: to focus on this silent tragedy and to provide financial aid to organizations that the community believes to be doing the most to help the victims of domestic violence.

What is the MPWR crypto-currency?

Mpwr is the crypto-currency or coin issued by the Empower Network. We believe MPWR is one of the most rewarding investments anyone can make. It is a true win/win. The investor reaps rewards, and also supports a coin that helps make the world a better place in a unique way that very few other crypto-currency projects, if any, do.

What is The Empower Network?

The Empower Network is the community that supports the vision and objectives held by the core team. They are actively involved in a central community hub located at Mpwr's discord server. The central hub allows the community to interact, vote, and receive support. There will also be opportunities to donate directly to organizations of one's choice, access resources for domestic violence help, and there are plans to incorporate confidential professional counseling. The Empower Network will be an ever evolving, malleable network with the clear and top priority of meeting the needs of those that have been impacted by relationship abuse. The support and activities that take place on the central discord server will always strive to meet those needs first and foremost.

Mpwr's goal is to reach out to those who are victims and still suffering from Domestic Violence and offer them a way to get help. Nobody should or will be left behind. In the coming months, Mpwr will be expanding our Network in the Domestic Violence community, reaching out to shelters, abuse alternatives and advocate groups.

Conclusion

The foundation and vision of Mpwr is set. This is a coin that has a guaranteed methodology to positively impact the fight against domestic violence. But as a community coin, it will evolve and improve. Our investors and community will have a say in how that takes place. Additionally, with a relatively low coin supply and a generous staking interest rate, it is also boasts factors that make Mpwr a strong crypto investment. The Empower Network hopes to see you join hands, and invest in the fight with us!

Domestic Violence Resources

In many cases, being a listening ear is not enough. But at the same time, many people don't know what to do or how to help. Once again, Empower Network hopes to be growing resource for those in need of support. But, in the meantime, there are some great resources out there. And the ability to point a victim to the right direction can be the perfect way to help. Especially when those unfamiliar with the complex challenges of domestic violence try to understand and get involved. Below are a few handy phone numbers and websites that can be timely and effective for those in need. This is not an exhaustive list.
